STATE TAX LAW
CHANGES URGED

Commission Asks Legislature to Curtail Exemption of Real Property From Taxation

PLANS GASOLINE TAX

Recommendations Also Include Auto Theft Prevention and Headlight Lense Standards

Albany, Feb. 26.—Changes in the state tax law, intended in some instances to increase revenue and in others to make more equitable certain existing laws, are recommended in the annual report of the state tax commission, which will be made to the legislature tomorrow night.

The report, which is signed by Walter W. Law, Jr., president, and John J. Merrill and Walter H. Knapp, commissioners, also revealed that various bureaus of the commission turned in to the state treasury during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, a total of $68,729,154. The largest single revenue producing agency of the state is shown to be the corporation tax bureau, which during the last fiscal year netted a return of $57,000,000, a new high record. The commission, however, expressed a belief there would be a decrease in the present fiscal year of approximately $9,000,000 in this source of revenue, due to business depression.

The report also declared that the personnel of the department had been reduced as a result of the consolidation of a year ago from 1,059 to 924 with a resultant saving of $218,000 in personal service expenses. The report also announced a substantial saving in rentals, maintenance and operating charges of the department.

Curtail Tax Exemptions.

Outstanding among the recommendations listed in the report is one that "the entire subject of exemption of real property from taxation be given the early and serious consideration of the legislature." In this connection the report declared that "for many of the statutory exemptions which now exist there appears to be little, if any, logical reason and public policy would seem to dictate that the state should curtail existing exemptions and should scrutinize applications for future exemptions with much greater care than has been exercised heretofore." The report also showed that the assessed value of real property in the state for the year 1921 was $14,294,189,178 of which $3,285,986,647 was exempt from taxation, an increase of 2.6 percent over the exemptions for the year previous.

A recommendation that a tax of one cent a gallon be imposed on the consumption of gasoline also was made, accompanied by an estimate that it would bring $4,500,000 annual revenue to the state.

The report also contained returns from the administration of the personal income tax law first levied in 1920 on incomes of 1919. The report asserted that the localities share of revenues collected by the state from the corporation and personal income taxes during the last fiscal year exceeded considerably the local property tax levied in the localities. The report showed that the localities received from the state as their share of these revenues $31,679,865 as compared with the direct tax levy in the localities of $22,340,313. This difference of more than $9,000,000 was reflected in a reduction in local tax rates, the report added.

88 Minimum License Fee.

Recommendations dealing with taxation of motor vehicles and methods of minimizing the thefts of automobiles, some of which already have been incorporated in the law, also are outlined in the report. Included in the recommendations on taxing motor vehicles are that the weight of the car be made the basis for the computation of automobile license fees, with a minimum fee of $5, that the license fees for 1922 be increased at least one-third, that an operators' license law be enacted to require the operator of a car in the state to have an annual license for which a fee of $1 be paid; that provisions be made for the revocation and suspension of these licenses upon conviction for serious offenses, and that "more specific and accurate specifications for lenses and headlight devices be made." A specific recommendation was made that all but one of such use should be 21 candle power. In this connection the report said:

"About 110 different lamps have been approved and are in common use. The great majority of these are comparatively useless and inefficient to protect the traveling public."

A statutory provision to minimize the theft of automobiles (such as registration of a bill of sale which always must accompany a car," is suggested in the report. An amendment was urged to require the owner of a car to carry his certificate of registration and exhibit it upon demand of a police officer.

Other measures recommended, tending to the prevention of fraud, accident and theft and the promotion of safety, were increases to the inspection force of the motor vehicle bureau; increases in the fees for releasing lost plates and for the transfer of licenses. "In the matter of lost plates," said the report, "the door is left open for the commission of fraud. Any person with a certificate can present an affidavit with his car claiming that he lost

No "Coddling" of Sing Sing Prisoners, Warden Asserts

Ossining, Feb. 27.—Denying that there was any "coddling" of the prisoners in Sing Sing prison, Warden Lewis E. Lawes today answered the charge of Police Commissioner Denby of New York city that criminals "have to much ease and comfort" in the prison. "Let me tell you how much we coddle the prisoners at Sing Sing," Warden Lawes declared. "We have a stern and thorough system of discipline at Sing Sing in spite of all superficial observations to the contrary. We do not use the ball and chain; we do not shave heads unless the inmate prefers that style of headgear. We do not dress the men in stripes; we have no implements of torture, we do not use whips or clubs. The days of that

DENBY DISAPPROVES
GOMPERS' PROPOSAL

Inadvisable to Convert Navy Yards into Government Industrial Plants, Secretary Declares

Washington, Feb. 26.—Conversion of navy yards into industrial plants for the purpose of obtaining contracts from other government departments was not to be accomplished only at the expense of privately-owned factories and therefore would not be of value to the unemployed, Secretary Denby declared tonight in a letter answering suggestions laid before him recently by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, as head of a delegation representing "furloughed navy yard employees." Several thousand of these workers were given leave without pay as a consequence of the naval agreement reached at the Washington conference.

"It is difficult to see," Secretary Denby said, "how the national unemployment situation will be in any way alleviated even if it is found feasible to compete in the open market with industrial plants on the outside. As to this, I have very serious doubts. As to the conversion of industrial plants into private industry, thereby increasing the overhead, as in the navy yards of the United States."

Moreover, the Secretary continued, he doubted very much the wisdom of artificially keeping up "navy yards, some of which must inevitably be closed, at the expense of private yards, thereby perhaps causing the destruction of the latter." When the navy yards are not required to maintain the fleet, he said, "they should be sold or leased to private concerns who may find employment for them."

YOUTHFUL CLERK
DROWNS BABY SON

Young Wife Refused to Return to Him, He Tells Police, and He Wanted to "End All"

New York, Feb. 26.—Walter Liddle, 19, a clerk, confessed tonight, the police said, that he drowned his seven-month-old son in this bathtub of his Bronx home this afternoon, because his young wife refused to return to him. Pressed for an explanation, he said to have declared he decided to "end it all" by killing the baby and have the state electrocute me." He was arrested on a homicide charge.

Mrs. Liddle left her husband a month ago, after quarrels due to his inability to obtain permanent work, the police said. She took the baby to the home of her parents, where Liddle called on her in the afternoon and, after successful persuasion, asked her to take the child for a few days. He told the police he hastened to his home with the infant, where, after fondling him for 20 minutes, he decided to drown him.

District Attorney Edward J. Glennon stated the youth declared he had weighted a pillow with iron and sunk it in the partly-filled bath tub, intending to place the child upon it, and decided to remove it. Then, he told Mr. Glennon, he kissed the child several times, dropped it into the water, and ran to tell his wife of his action.

NO BANKING ON SUNDAY.

Albany, Feb. 26.—Prohibition of any activity connected with the banking business or transactions in foreign exchange on Sundays is the object of a bill introduced in the legislature by Senator Salvatore A. Cotillo, Democrat, of New York.

both his plates and upon this he procured a new set which can easily be passed along to a confederate, or his confederate can easily steal his plates, and by this process he gets a new set for $2."

A bond for at least $500 is recommended for all taxicabs operating in cities. "Many of these taxicabs are covered by chattel mortgages," said the report. "The drivers are irresponsible and in case of accident the injured party has no recourse. It is believed a bond would tend to reduce the wreckless and careless driving."

Mrs. Lillian N. Duke, former wife of James B. Duke, the "Tobacco King," lost her entire fortune in investments. Other New York society women lost large sums with the same broker and police are now looking for him.

R. R. POLICE BATTLE
FREIGHT ROBBERS

Bullet Hits One of Gang; Valuable Merchandise Recovered After the Encounter

Syracuse, Feb. 26.—One man was shot during a revolver battle between a gang of 12 freight car thieves and two railroad guards on the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg railroad on the northern outskirts of Syracuse early today. Hundreds of dollars' worth of merchandise consigned to Northern New York points was recovered after the battle.

The man shot was booked at a local hospital as Joseph Soloskey. His condition is not serious. Two members of the New York Central railroad police force, Sergeants Gilfoyle and Silvers, were aboard the train. They saw the men as they broke into one of the cars and threw out several crates of merchandise. As the gang jumped from the train and started to gather the boxes strewn along the tracks, the officers opened fire. Shots rang out from all sides, and the thieves scattered through the fields and all escaped in the darkness, with the exception of the wounded man.

Among the cases in which decisions may be expected on Monday, or in the near future, are the United Shoe Machinery corporation and the Standard Fashion company cases, both under the Clayton act. The former is charged through leases based on patent rights, and the latter by contracts on copyrighted articles, with enforcing arrangements which have the effect of lessening competition. Other suits will determine the constitutionality of the woman suffrage amendment, state and municipal control over public service corporations, the power of the federal government by taxation to regulate grain exchanges under the "futures trading act," and whether stock yard dealers and traders are engaged in interstate commerce, and can be regulated by the "stock yards act."

PROBLEMS OF WATERWAYS DISCUSSED THIS WEEK

Washington, Feb. 26.—Waterways transportation problems, extending from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic and to the Gulf of Mexico, will occupy the attention of five important waterways organizations which will hold sessions here during the week. These include the National Rivers and Harbors congress, the National Merchant Marine association, South Atlantic States association, Middle West Merchant committee and the Mississippi Valley association.

Causal interest is expected to attend the joint session of the St. Lawrence river project Wednesday under the auspices of the Rivers and Harbors congress, in which Governor Miller of New York will speak for those against the project and Governor Allen of Kansas, and H. H. Merrick of Chicago, will speak for those supporting it.

POLICE USE "TEAR" BOMB
TO ROUT SAFE CRACKERS

Cleveland, Feb. 26.—Failing in their endeavor to gain entrance to an apartment here where it was reported a gang of alleged safe crackers were living, police today resorted to a "tear" bomb. The officers said they were defeated because they had no search warrant and were warned by the occupants that they were heavily armed.

Thereupon, one of the officers went to police headquarters for a "tear" bomb, which had been left there by a salesman as a sample. A window was broken and the bomb thrown inside. The result was almost simultaneous. Four men and three women surrendered and were taken to police headquarters for investigation.

COST OF POLICE
PROTECTION SOARS

Oneonta One of 27 Cities Whose Appropriations Were Below State Average

Albany, Feb. 26.—"Even the cost of police protection went soaring during the war period between 1916 and 1921," declared a report by the New York State Bureau of Municipal Research, made public tonight. Appropriations for police departments, in all New York state cities, increased 62 percent during the five-year period. In 1916, the tax levy was $21,464,617, and in 1921 it had increased to $34,757,579.

The smallest increase, 60 percent, the report said, was in the first class cities. In 1921, these cities appropriated $30,981,102 as compared with $19,307,597 in 1916. The second class cities showed an increase of 75 percent, the appropriations jumping from $3,248,810 to $5,686,889. In the 49 third-class cities, the levy for police protection increased 76 percent, or from $908,210 to $1,581,083.

Cities in which the increase in police appropriations was below the average for the state included Albany, Amsterdam, Auburn, Beacon, Buffalo, Cohoes, Corning, Elmira, Dunkirk, Geneva, Gloversville, Hornell, Ithaca, Johnstown, Mechanicville, Mount Vernon, New York, Norwich, Oneida, Oswego, Plattsburg, Oswego, Poughkeepsie, Poughkeepsie, Rome, Salamanca, and Tonawanda.

A number of transportation cases, some of vital importance, which are due for decision, include proceedings separately brought by the states of New York, Wisconsin and Texas, challenging the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce commission to fix rates upon state traffic, and numerous proceedings to test phases of liability of railroad corporations during federal control, several with reference to the federal employers' liability act.

WOMAN FALLS EIGHT
STORIES TO DEATH

Body of Miss Eleanor Dunning of Liberty Found Beneath New York Hotel Window

New York, Feb. 26.—The body of Miss Eleanor Dunning, 40 years old, of Liberty, N. Y., was found this morning on the roof of the engine room in the year of the Hotel Aberdeen in West 34th street, directly beneath the window of a room on the eighth floor which the woman had occupied.

Miss Dunning, who registered at the hotel a week ago, was in a cheerful frame of mind before retiring Saturday night, according to Mrs. Anna Sellers, a cousin, who has lived at the hotel for several years.

A check payable to cash for $350, jewelry estimated to be worth several thousand dollars, and $150 in cash, were found in the room, according to the police.

No one at the hotel was able to tell the police when Miss Dunning met her death.

HOOVER WILL ALLOT
RADIO WAVE LENGTHS

Says He'll Act as Personal Representative "Small Boy" in Conferences Opening Today

Washington, Feb. 26.—Secretary Hoover's radio conference, called for the purpose of investigating all questions relating to the use and development of the radio telephone, meets tomorrow, in conference with the prohibition of allotting "wave lengths" in the air to the various classes of users of the new means of communication, so as to eliminate interference.

Mr. Hoover will be the "personal representative of the American small boy," he has announced. Under regulations now in force, wave lengths are allotted to various classes of users, from amateur broadcasting to 3,600 meters and above for government stations and point-to-point communication on land. Delegates to the conference, who are charged as far as possible with the enforcement of regulations to prevent a "monopoly of the air" by the telephone and telegraph companies, but at the same time assigning the other waves so as to permit the greatest use of the wireless telephone for commercial purposes and amateur development, have found it necessary to rearrange the present allotment of the air lines.

The government, which recently authorized a broadcasting service under 485-meter wave length for government market reports, and 360-meter wave length for entertainment, news and educational talks, found much interference through the great number of amateur radio telephone enthusiasts and other classes of operators, with little attempt at uniformity of wave length suited to each type of instrument or user. Representatives of telephone and telegraph companies, and other commercial users of radio telephony, as well as amateurs, will be heard, and there is a possibility, according to the department of commerce officials, that recommendations will be made for new legislation in connection with classification of wave lengths and kindred services.

MAN LOSES LIFE
IN ODD ACCIDENT

Drops Lantern While Working in Manhole, Setting Tar Afire and Burning Him to Death

Allwood, N. J., Feb. 26.—One man was burned to death and another severely injured in an odd accident here late today while a group of workmen were tarring the interior of a six-foot water pipe being run from Bonton to Jersey City. Eight men were working by lantern light when Paul Peroly of Clinton, who lost his life, accidentally dropped his lantern, setting the tar ablaze.

The manholes are 2,000 feet apart and the nearest one to the spot was 200 feet away. Peroly and Charles Scott, also of Clinton, tried to escape by this exit and were trapped. The other six dashed in the opposite direction and escaped unhurt. Kent was badly burned and was taken to a hospital in Passaic.

Another workman made several desperate attempts to rescue Peroly. A rope was tied around him and he was lowered into the manhole, but each time was driven back by the suffocating smoke.

PATROLMAN CAPTURES MAN WHO ATTEMPTS TO KILL HIM

New York, Feb. 26.—Dodging just in time to escape a bullet fired through the windshield of a taxicab, a patrolman today "kicked" today a man who won a coming-out side street during the war by selling $3,500, and a bunch of Liberty bonds and establishing the nation's juvenile record. He received recognition from President Harding, several medals and the honorary title of "colonel" in the Boy Scouts of America.

DRY ACT REPEAL
URGED BY LABOR

Federation's Executive Council Favors Substitute Measure Permitting Wines and Beer

DISREGARD OF LAW

Taxes Have Increased Greatly, More Unemployment Under Volstead Law, It Is Asserted

Washington, Feb. 26.—Repeal of the Volstead prohibition enforcement act and substitution of a measure permitting sale of light wines and beer was urged today by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor in a statement which called upon all citizens to join with labor organizations in a campaign with these objects in view. The statement denounced the Volstead act as "a social and moral failure," and "a dangerous breeder of discontent and contempt for all law."

The council, which concluded a week's session Saturday night, previously announced its intention to participate in the congressional campaign through a non-partisan campaign committee, which will endorse and oppose candidates of major political parties, "other independent if that course is considered most effective."

The council's announcement said, "there was caused to be made an exhaustive investigation of the Volstead act. It was shown by this investigation that there had been a general disregard of the law among all classes of people, including those who made the law."

"Creation of thousands of moonshiners among both country and city dwellers."

"Creation of army of bootleggers."

"An amazing increase in the traffic in poisons and deadly concoctions and drugs."

"Increase in unemployment."

"Increases in taxes to city, state and national governments amounting to approximately $1,000,000,000 per year."

The federation did not protest against the constitutional amendment embodying the prohibition policy, the statement emphasized, but considered the Volstead act "an improper interpretation of the amendment," and stood in order that the law may be enforceable and enforced.

YOUNG SOCIETY GIRL
BRUTALLY ATTACKED

Struck Over Head by Heavy Sash-Weight, Thick Hair Alone Saves Her Life

New York, Feb. 26.—Shortly after she had fallen asleep early today on her return from a masquerade party, Miss Dorothy Nichols, 18-year-old society girl of Washington Heights, awoke with a scream when an intruder struck her a heavy blow on the head. Her assailant escaped.

The young woman's head was badly hurt by a heavy leather sash-weight used by the mysterious prowler, who fled through the window he which he had entered.

Her parents, in an adjoining room aroused by their daughter's screams, found her unconscious. Her life probably was saved, hospital surgeons say, by her thick blond hair which broke the force of the blow.

Miss Nichols was added to the attack by the failure of the prowler to take jewelry and other valuables in plain view from a dresser in the young woman's room.

Miss Nichols, who attended Columbia University last year, went to the dance with several college friends.

The police later found a milkman who told of having been almost bowled over by a heavily-built man who slipped from a window of the apartment in which Miss Nichols lives and dashed by him, gasping and clutching the floor. After calling with him, the fleeing man asked the time, the milkman said, and when told it was 12:30 checked back and kept on running.

Hospital surgeons tonight decided to take X-rays of Miss Nichols' injuries, fearing it was bad, that her skull was fractured.

The party Miss Nichols had attended was given at the home of Pauline Hensel, who won a coming-out side street during the war by selling $3,500, and a bunch of Liberty bonds and establishing the nation's juvenile record. HAS IDEAS OF HER OWN

Ida Hutchins Concludes That She Has Served Enough Time so She Vamooses—It's Durand's Vile Again for Her.

Ida Hutchins, alias Ida Gault, 33 years old, evidently believes in getting the jump on proceedings at every opportunity. With several days of the six months' sentence imposed upon her for deserting her two children in Cooperstown yet to be served, Ida, who was working at the county farm as a trusty, decided Saturday that she didn't care to wait until her sentence expired so she came to Oneonta, where she secured employment at the Wilson house.

Ida was arrested yesterday by Officer Simmons and later in the day Sheriff Williams and Under Sheriff Converse came to Oneonta for her. She was arrested in New Rochelle, nearly six months ago for deserting her two small children in Cooperstown. Sentenced to six months in the county jail, she had nearly served her time when the lure of open places got into her blood. Ida notified the officers yesterday that she would be back in Oneonta before night. We have our doubts, but time will tell.

RAILS SHOWED BEST GAINS DURING WEEK

Market's Advance Extremely Uneven, Oils, Equipments and Steels Being Very Unsettled

New York, Feb. 26. — In the higher range of prices established by a majority of seasoned and speculative issues during last week's active and diverse dealings, the securities market seemed to move along the lines of least resistance.

The advance was extremely uneven, however, rails showing to greatest advantage. Canadian Pacific led this division at a net gain of almost ten points, the extensive accumulation of that stock being attended by reports of "guarantees" by the dominion government.

Shares of various junior and newly-reorganized railways, especially Missouri, Kansas & Texas, St. Louis & San Francisco, and St. Louis Southwestern, also registered substantial gains with coals, cotton carriers and many of the eastern trunk line systems.

Oils, motors, equipment and steels were frequently confusing, several of the steels became very unsettled following the passing of the dividend on Republic Iron and steel preferred and the poor statements of earnings submitted by other companies of the same type.

Tobacco and kindred specialties evinced occasional pressure on dubious dividend prospects, but numerous miscellaneous shares, of which leathers, textiles, rubbers and chemicals were conspicuous examples, seemed to be favored on better trade prospects.

Country-wide banking conditions as set forth by the Federal Reserve board were encouraging, but the local demand for funds was sufficiently insistent to force call loans up to six per cent. The greater part of the week's money was placed at five per cent, however, a 4 1/4 per cent rate holding for prime 30 to 90 day mercantile paper.

All the principal foreign exchanges made additional upward progress on their more favorable trade balances. Of the neutral quotations the Dutch rate was strongest, reflecting the consummation of a loan to that government by an American banking syndicate.

ATHLETICS FORFEIT TO YANKS.
Only two Athletics were on hand for Friday night's match in the M. C. A. bowling tournament, and consequently the games were forfeited to the Yanks, who had nearly a full turnout. The Yanks were successful in winning all three games against the averages of the absentees on the Athletic side and the two who were present. Graves and Westcott tied for high total, each totalling the pins to the tune of 223.

Reindeer's Skin Valuable.
Not only is the reindeer prized highly for its flesh, but the skins are valuable for glove-making. Tanned with the hair on, they are very light, and robes made from the soft tanned skins with the hair on are for weight probably by far the warmest covering known. These might become extremely useful as automobile robes for winter in colder parts of the country.

In an ancient Babylon province there have been discovered records on clay tablets belonging to the period of about 2400 B. Soon after his ordination to the United Presbyterian church, Mr. McNab was taken ill and confined to his bed for 20 years. WARD OFF DANGEROUS "COLD"

Much Sickness May Be Prevented by Adoption of a Few Preventive Measures.

A few precautions will decrease the liability of catching cold from exposure to the rains of winter—as well as its snows. Some of the simplest preventives are those that nature herself furnishes. None needs to catch a cold when wet if he or she will walk or run home briskly. Wet clothing draws the heat from the body and lowers the temperature below normal. This is dangerous. But if the heat of the body is maintained by exercise, little or no harm results from the wet clothing. If obtainable, two or three lumps of sugar should be eaten. This helps the heart's action and supplies considerable heat to the body.

Many deride the popular belief that it is impossible to catch cold from a wetting with sea water, but the statement holds much truth. The salt removes excretion, and thus chilling of the body is delayed. Obviously, that is an advantage. Further, the salt acts as a stimulant, and assists the circulation of the blood. That is another advantage. Thus, unless in unusual circumstances, there is much less chance of a cold resulting from an immersion in the sea than in fresh water.

Those who feel much depressed in wet weather should form the habit of increasing their rate of breathing. The depression is due to the increase of vapor in the air, and the consequent proportionate decrease of oxygen. Quicker breathing, as is obvious, pumps more oxygen into the system, and the depression departs.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

Two noteworthy reports relating to the banking situation have been issued during the past week, says the Saturday morning business conditions issued by the well-known banking house of Henry Claws and company. One is the regular statement of the controller of the currency showing conditions at the close of 1921, the other the annual report of the Federal Reserve board for that year. In both the great contraction of credit and the reduction of bill holdings and investments to a low point furnish the outstanding feature, but in the statement of the controller of the currency there is found evidence of an "upturn in business" as shown by the increase in the assets of national banks. This increase in assets, however, is in no small measure due to an enlargement of assets, which is the report of the Federal Reserve board also shows the same great advance in cash holdings. The board is undoubtedly right in asserting that the low point in business has been reached or passed, the controller of currency placing this low point somewhere during the last three or four months of the year 1921.

The indications of better business are, however, not confined to banking statistics or reports of financial prospects. Various corporation and railroad reports during the week have been encouraging, while the further adjustment of our foreign relations on business matters has also pointed to decided improvement. The settlement of the Mexican situation has helped the oil industry materially. In sugar, the gradual sale of surplus stocks and the gradual liquidation of the large liabilities incurred during the spring and summer of 1921 for the purpose of carrying the product over the low priced period has been very helpful. In addition the renewed improvement in orders for steel once more indicates the revival of demand in the steel line of business, the most promising continuing to be the least satisfactory phase of the metal situation, though better in the far East.

One of the most notable facts of recent weeks has been the improvement in the condition of the farmer due to the advance of agricultural prices. While this increase has, of course, not been so pronounced in cotton, which secured its advance last autumn, it has been marked in cereals and in other agricultural products, the benefit to the farmer being anywhere from 15 to 20 per cent at points of shipment. One effect of this improved state of things has been the liquidation of loans in no considerable degree among banks which had previously been a good many of their assets "frozen." Although the upward movement appears to have started at the time of the large purchases of foodstuffs made for Russian relief, it has continued largely independent of that operation, and now apparently represents a better adjustment of farm conditions to the general world situation.

REUNION OF GRADUATES.

Annual Luncheon of Binghamton Chapter of O. N. S. Alumni.

On Saturday afternoon at the Hotel Bennett in Binghamton occurred the annual luncheon of the Binghamton Chapter of O. N. S. Alumni. This occasion has always been filled with pleasure and profit for those in attendance; but this year's gathering seemed to surpass in spirit and enthusiasm early meetings. There are now in the schools of Binghamton over one hundred Oneonta graduates; this is one-fourth of the teaching force of the city. That speaks well for the reputation of our local institution. At this luncheon over ninety were present to renew pleasant friendships and to pledge anew love and fealty to O. N. S.

Everything was done by the hotel management, by the committees in charge of arrangements and decorations, and by the officers of the association to make the reunion successful. After a happy season of greetings and reminiscences, the company repaired to the main dining room where all things had been made ready for feasting. The tables were bright with Normal colors and artistic place-cards, and the luncheon itself was appetizing. The guests of honor were Doctor Bugbee of the Normal and Superintendent and Mrs. Kelly of Binghamton.

After the luncheon was finished, the members and guests returned to the Rose-room where speeches were in order. Doctor Bugbee, the first speaker, complimented the Association for zeal and devotion to O. N. S. He spoke of the splendid record of the institution which he represents, he paid tribute to the loyalty of the citizens of Oneonta to the best interests of that institution, he praised the faithful services of the faculty, he congratulated the graduates present upon their success in the schoolroom. With such unwavering support, O. N. S. will move to greater things in the days to come.

In consideration of Doctor Bugbee's eminent services in the cause of education and in recognition of his lifelong devotion to their Alma Mater, the sentiment was expressed by the Binghamton Chapter that some day he should be set apart to do honor to their principal. It was determined that plans should be formulated to hold in Oneonta, when suitable time came, an anniversary observance of his administration at O. N. S.

The toastmistress was Miss Emmons, the President of the Association. She very ably presided, and she called upon the members of the faculty to "speak for themselves." All responded most happily.

SOME CURRENT FUN

Excited and Forgetful.

Senator Tom Watson is so excited over the bonus that he has forgotten all about his hanging investigation.—[Watertown Times.]

A Hopeful Outlook.

After a time, fear of the deadliness of the alcoholic beverages that are available may put the booze runners out of business.—[Albany Journal.]

Just Starting.

The formation of the Irish Free state was going to end most of Ireland's problems, but like the wedding, after an exciting courtship, it is only starting them.—[Toronto Mail.]

Crowded Out.

Over in Russia it will soon be necessary to enlarge the street cars. The car fare is coming to take up so much space that it is crowding out the passengers.—[Rochester Democrat.]

Some Difference.

A Kansas school superintendent says jazz music has the same effect as booze, but to date we haven't heard of any married ones sneaking into the house with their shoes off after listening to a jazz band.—[Buffalo Express.]

Napoleon's Posture.

Whenever we campaign orators don't know much, if anything, about the details, we thrust our respective right hands into the respective bosoms of our respective Princes Albert, and announce in an impressive way that it is epochal, positively epochal.—[Ohio State Journal.]

Current Fun.

Rich Wire—I got my good looks from my mother. Husband (Who gets small allowance).—Then your stinginess is evidently inherited.—[Exchange.]

"They say the Joneses are a happy couple." "But Jones is a traveling man and is very seldom at home." "Exactly."—[Buffalo Evening News.]

"Short skirts are going out of fashion." "Yes," replied Miss Cayenne. "People who refused to regard them as highly improper now admit that they are improperly high."—[Washington Star.]

Tough on Congress.

The people have become so wise it is impossible to tax them without their knowing it. That is one big trouble of congress.—[Buffalo Enquirer.]

The Silver Lining.

The dullest winter in the Maine woods in more than 40 years is reported by employment agents at Bangor. The silver lining is visible, though not blindingly, in the price of lumber to the consumer.

The Betrayal.

The most disturbing thing in connection with the proposed bonus bill of the treasury is the duplicity of congress. Staggering as it would be to the country to shoulder an additional war debt of five billions of dollars for bonus payments, the debt in itself would mean far less to the country than the fact that it had been sold out and by its own men for political gain.—[New York Herald.]

Endangering Man's Morals.

Has it come to this under feminine emancipation, that it is endangering the morals of the innocent male? Mr. Podmap, who was concerned lest anything should bring a blush to the cheek of the young person, never forgot a state of things where special protection would be required by the young person of the male sex. He lived before the days of vamps and when cheek dancing had not been evolved. But to whom will the indicted society flapper pass the blame? What serpent has "beguiled" her into these ways? Must triumphant feminism be held accountable for the girl vamp?—[New York World.]

STATE ROAD MAINTENANCE

State Highway Commissioner Sisson announced on Saturday the proportional amount of moneys allotted to each of the counties of the state for the maintenance and repair of state and county highways. The total sum appropriated for the state is $7,500,000.

For the care of her improved highways the county of Otsego will receive the sum of $91,420. Delaware county will get $137,550; Chenango $165,640 and Schoharie $6,370. Repairs to highways will begin approximately April 1, or as soon thereafter as the roads are in suitable condition.

FULL CREW LAW REPEAL

New York State Federation of County Farm Bureau Associations Interested in the Repeal of the Full Crew Law.

There is a wide-spread demand for lower freight rates, especially upon the part of the farmer. The reason why he is interested can readily be understood when it is known that between 50 and 55 percent of the freight of the United States either comes from or goes to the farm. The New York State Federation of County Farm Bureau Associations has taken the lead in this state in urging a reduction of railroad operating costs and is urging that the carriers be relieved of the burdens of the Full Crew law.

This so-called "Full-Crew law" is Section 54-A of the railroad law, originally fixing the number of men comprising train crews on New York state railroads of more than fifty miles in length. The law does not take cognizance of actual operating conditions which vary on almost every line.

The law provides that freight trains of 25 cars or more must have six men; that passenger and other trains of five cars or more (including mail, baggage, milk and express trains) must have five men and a sixth if the train carries baggage.

Light engines must have three men. This wastefulness in the railroad cost the railroads $2,175,900 for dead-heading the extra men back and forth over their lines. It was enacted in 1913 during the Suiter administration, ostensibly to safeguard the traveling public—actually to increase the wage payments to train crews and to insure employment of a greater number of men.

Strict compliance with the law has proven it wasteful, burdensome, and unnecessary to the public, the employee, and the railroad. It has not increased the degree of safety of railroad operation. There is no increased hazard to passengers' employees, good carried, or railroad equipment. There has been no increase in accidents in the 29 states of the union having no Full-Crew law, nor in the three states which have recently repealed their Full-Crew acts, due to the alleged under-manning of trains; which leaves the total results derived from this act, first, the creation of useless positions, and second, the wasting by the railroads of some sixteen million dollars. The public in general thinks that this sum would be more profitably diverted to the reduction of rates, which the farmers cannot be blamed if they desire a repeal of the law which puts transportation burdens on them for what appears to be only the making of jobs for railroad workers.

The legislatures of Pennsylvania and Indiana last year repealed full-crew bills, and the voters of the state of Missouri in 1914, on a referendum, defeated similar legislation by more than a 2 to 1 vote. In Massachusetts and Connecticut the commissions successfully handled the matter, and it is interesting to note that in vetoing the full-crew legislation in 1907, Governor Hughes said in part: "The bill does not refer its requirements to any proper standard by which its proper application, under varying conditions it to be determined. It contains an absolute requirement which, upon the facts conceded before me, cannot be justified." And Governor Dix, in vetoing a similar bill in 1911, said: "This bill is objectionable for the reason that it takes away from the Public Service Commission a right which it now has for the proper regulation of railroads." Governors Harmon of Ohio and Cruce of Oklahoma have declined to approve in their states, train crew bills.

Long before the law was enacted the railroads placed three and sometimes four brakemen on trains, which their services were required. They did it because it was necessary. The repeal of the full-crew law will in no wise effect the number of men required for actual service on trains.

Whatever may have been said for the full crew bill in 1912, it has passed. It is essential now that the railroads should be aided in all safe and fair ways to reduce their rates. The repeal of the full crew law would materially aid in this. The cost is borne by the public—the passenger and shipper—who ultimately absorb all transportation costs from which both freight and passenger tariffs are determined. Rates cannot be lowered unless economies are effected. The wisdom of adding to the railroads of New York state unnecessary costs of operation is obvious. A reduction in rail rates is necessary not merely for the revival of railroad business, but for the revival of all industry. And there is no single contribution to industrial revival which would have so far-reaching influence as a reduction in rail rates.

Merchants Promise to Break All Records in Bargains on Dollar Day

Tomorrow is Dollar Day in Oneonta. Once again the city will be crowded with hordes of shoppers, all anxious to share in the rare bargains to be offered by local merchants.

The merchants of the city in every line of business have co-operated to make Dollar Day a huge success. They are far better prepared to take care of the great crowds than they were before, and even greater bargains are offered.

Every possible effort has been made in preparation for the big event. The stores will be open at the usual time, the army of clerks will be on hand earlier and all goods advertised for the great Dollar Day sale will be placed in readiness for the rush when the stores are opened.

The splendid bargains offered for Dollar Day patrons actually demonstrate the fact that Oneonta merchants give time and thought to their patrons' needs, and that on one certain day they have concerted steps to put forth their best opportunities for the benefit of their customers.

The impetus which is given to trade at this time is carried over into consistent patronage, the merchants believe, and they continue to carry out the ideals of service to their customers which Dollar Day establishes.

It has been years since a dollar has had the purchasing power in Oneonta that it will command tomorrow. Bigger and better bargains than ever before are promised by the merchants All Aboard for Dollar Day!

HEALTH WORK IN OTSEGO

Facts Gathered by State League of Women Voters Show Need of Further Work in State.

During the past year an extensive survey of the work being done in each county of this state by different agencies for the promotion of health of mothers and infants has been carried on under the direction of the Child Welfare committee of the New York League of Women Voters, through local volunteer assistants. They have found that several of the larger cities and villages provide excellent care for expectant mothers and maintain clinics and welfare stations for children and physicians and nurses in attendance. The value of such work is recognized and it needs only to be extended.

A very different state of affairs exists throughout the rural sections. In many places there is a shortage of physicians and women can get no direct instruction in the hygiene of maternity and infancy. It used to be asserted that any mother knew instinctively how to care for her baby but this has been proved a costly mistake. There is a great need of more public health nurses, of health centers and general educational work. The remarkably low infant mortality in New Zealand is directly attributable to its splendid system of public health nursing.

The public health nurse is really a community teacher of hygiene and preventive medicine. She forms classes, visits homes and is in attendance at welfare stations. She advises mothers how to care for themselves and their babies, is constantly on the watch for disease and is a form of insurance that no community can afford to go without. Some counties have no public health nurses, many have only one for the entire county and it is obviously impossible for her to cover such a large territory unless she limits her work to a single field.

The survey just completed in Otsego county has been carried on through the County Tuberculosis committee, with Miss Nina Short as chairman, and a summary follows:

Otsego county contains 35 civil divisions (one city, 24 townships and 10 incorporated villages), and has a total population of 45,534. Its infant mortality rate for 1920 was 69 for its rural area and 51 for the city of Oneonta, i. e. its babies under one year of age died at the rate of 69 out of every thousand in the rural sections and 51 in Oneonta, as compared with 41 for the rural sections of Genesee, the best county, and 120 for Franklin, the worst county.

There is no organized supervision of maternity hygiene in the county. There are two public hospitals taking obstetrical cases, one in Oneonta and one in Cooperstown.

The Red Cross public health nurse in Oneonta is able to give some attention to infant work and that of pre-school children. She gets in touch with newly born infants through her work of delivering birth certificates. There is a Child Welfare station with a doctor and nurse in charge. There were 220 children from one year to seven years of age in attendance during last year. A splendid Little Mother's league is organized in the village of Morris. This is a group of young girls of twelve years of age who are taught personal hygiene and methods of baby care.

The county Tuberculosis committee executive has been active in spreading health education and the Healthmobile from the state department of health visited the county during the summer months.

Railroad Hat Check to Pass.

According to an announcement made by the New York Central Railroad, the well-known railroad hat check of various hues, which has adorned the headgear of passengers for a long time, will pass out of existence on that road on April 1. Passage checks will be attached to the tickets after that date. The tickets will come in triplicate, one part to be retained by the selling agent, one by the conductor and the other by the passenger. The latter's portion of the ticket will give his destination and must be presented to the conductor whenever requested.

Local officials have not been notified that any such action has been contemplated on the Delaware and Hudson.

The exquisite aroma of Blva tea is no accident. Years of care and study have been expended on its growing and preparation. Adv. 1w.

KAPLANS FINED $250 EACH

For Unlawfully Transporting and Having in Their Possession 144 Quarts of Scotch Whiskey.

Michael and Nathan Kaplan, who gave their residence as Mt. Vernon, this state, indicted at Cooperstown last week for violation of section 1212, subdivision 2, of the penal law of the state of New York for unlawfully transporting and having in their possession 144 quarts of Scotch whiskey, were arraigned before Justice Kellogg
here on Saturday afternoon.
Both entered a plea of guilty and were fined $250 each or 250 days in the county jail. The fine will be paid, it is said, although it appeared that this will absorb their ready cash at this time. District Attorney A. A.
Pierson appeared for the People and George L. VanHorne for the defendants.

Star readers will recall that the Kaplans were apprehended at Unadilla after a suspicion had been directed at their movements. State troopers were credited with their apprehension.
Michael Kaplan at Albany on Friday was separated from $600 by Federal Judge Cooper for a like defense. Commenting on the case before Judge Cooper the Knickerbocker-Press said:
"Michael Kaplan of Mount Vernon who was arrested with Fortunata Caldesari on January 27 near Cobleskill, at which time seven ten-gallon kegs
of whiskey were found in their car, pleaded guilty and drew a fine of $600.
In assessing the fine Judge Cooper said: "In the ordinary circumstances
I would make this fine from $300 to $1,000. I can't understand why a commercial traveler, a man learned in the ways of the world, will, without reason or purpose, ride from Binghamton to Schenectady with a stranger in the winter and in an open car. It doesn't sound right."

A DELIGHTFUL EVENING

Family Reunion and 33rd Anniversary
at Home of Fred N. Clark Last Saturday.

One of the most delightful of family reunions was held at 15 Valleyview street last Saturday evening, when a party of 55 guests, all near relatives of the host and hostess, assembled at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Fred N.
Clark. The date was that of their thirty-third wedding anniversary, and those present, beginning with Mrs.
Mary Stapleton of 13 Fair street, who is the mother of Mrs. Clark and was the guest of honor at the reception, included four generations.

During the evening bountiful refreshments were served, and later, dancing was liberally indulged in by those of the younger generations, and to a less extent by those older. At the dinner all the tables were decorated with flowers, that of Mr. and Mrs. Clark with American Beauty roses; and as fitting remembrance of the day, host and hostess were presented with abundance of linen and a chest of silver.

The guests from out of town were Conductor and Mrs. M. J. Stapleton and Mr. and Mrs. E. Stapleton of Albany, Mrs. John Reilly, Mrs. John Owens and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stapleton of Watervliet, Mr. and Mrs.
John Stapleton of Schenectady, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cannon and three children of Troy and Mrs. E. A. Reilly of Utica.

Oneonta friends of host and hostess and the ex-alderman and his wife of thirty-three years certainly have a great many of them, will join with the guests of Saturday in wishing them many happy returns of the day.

Nearly 400 representatives of banking institutions in every part of eastern and northern New York were present at the annual meeting and banquet of Group 5 of the New York State Bankers association held Saturday at the Hotel Ten Eyck in Albany. The ward Clipperton of the Wilbur Bank.

The business meeting and election of officers was held in the afternoon and was followed by a banquet in the evening at which addresses were made by Captain D. A. Mackay and Dr. Alexander Irving. Captain Mackay, formerly of the Canadian Royal North west Mounted Police and now the head of the newly organized State Constabulary of Massachusetts, gave a most interesting discussion of the work of the famous Canadian police organization, members of which are instructed when sent out after a criminal not to return until they get him, dead or alive. Dr. Irving, who is a noted lecturer and traveler of New York city, gave a much enjoyed talk on world conditions.

FIFTEEN MORE DAYS

Federal Income Tax Returns Must Be Made On or Before March 15.

Taxpayers have fifteen days, not including Sundays, in which to file their income tax returns for the calendar year 1921. To avoid penalty, the return, accompanied by at least one quarter of the tax, must be in the hands of the collector of internal revenue or a deputy collector on or before midnight of March 15.

Returns may be mailed or filed in person at the office of the collector at Syracuse, and the following branch offices, Binghamton, Utica and Watertown. Payment may be made by check, money order or in cash. If made at a branch office, payment should be made by money order or check, to avoid danger of loss in transmission to the office of the collector.

Where in exceptional cases such as illness or absence, a taxpayer is unable to make a return within the time prescribed, an extension of not to exceed thirty days may be obtained upon application to the collector. Such extensions will be granted only when in the judgment of the collector, further time is actually required for the making of an accurate return. Application for such extension must be made prior to March 15.

Portlandville Man Arrested by Fed-

Manufacture and Possession of Liquor.

Howard Crawford of Portlandville, arrested on February 13 by federal agents aided by a local officer, who found two stills and a quantity of liquor and materials for its manufacture in his home, pleaded guilty to charges of manufacture and possession of whiskey and gun when arraigned before Judge Cooper in federal court at Albany Saturday. He was fined $250.

It will be remembered that the officers found Crawford in three rooms in Crawford's home two well made copper stills, nearly 40 gallons of liquor, several barrels of corn mash, and a quantity of other materials. He was taken before United States Commis-

AMERICAN LEGION BANQUET

Annual Affair of Oneonta Post to Be Held at Armory on March 18—State Commander Devgan to Speak—Roosevelt Unable to Be Present.

The annual banquet of Oneonta Post of the American Legion will be held at the State Armory on the evening of Saturday, March 18, and will, judging by the announced plans, be the most successful in the history of the organization. Martin Devgan, state commander of the Legion, will address the evening men and there will be several other speakers of note.

The banquet, which will be for members of the Legion only, will be served in the drill hall, which will be attractively decorated for the occasion. The Company G band has donated its services for the evening and there will doubtless be other amusement features. Dr. G. W. Augustin is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

It was at first thought that Asst-ant Secretary of the Navy Theodore Roosevelt would be present at the banquet but Dr. Augustin received word from him last week that March 6 would be the only date he could fill.
It was found impossible to hold the banquet on that date so the Legionaires must forego the pleasure of hearing "Teddy."

Souvenir of Civil War Times.

L. J. Eggleston of this city brought souvenir of the early days of the civil war in the form of a three cent postage stamp enclosed in a circular brass rim about one inch in diameter and bearing on the back an advertisement of Ayer's sarsaparilla. These small tokens were used in the early days of the rebellion, after small coins became scarce and before shinplasters had been issued. The date of the specimen belonging to Mr. Ayer is apparently August, 1862.

FAIRCHILD CAMERA MAPS NEW YORK CITY
SNAPS 100 PHOTOGRAPHS IN 69 MINUTES

New York city has been "mapped" from the air in sixty-nine minutes, according to an announcement yesterday from the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, describing a new type of aerial camera perfected by Sherman M. Fairchild, president of the Fairchild Aerial Camera company of 132 West Fifty-second street. Operated from an airplane at a height of 10,000 feet, the photographer snapped 100 photographs of that number of sections into which the city had been divided.

"These photographs fitted together form a mosaic of thirty-two square miles area, showing distinctly every street and building," says the statement. "Even vehicles and pedestrians are discernible in the picture, just as one would see them if he were looking straight down from a height of two miles."

To assure this accuracy over unlimited areas, Mr. Fairchild developed what is known as a belt-and-lens shutter which it is said actually saves the brief instant which other shutters spend traversing the plate during the exposure. This instant would matter little in ordinary photography, but in mapping, or taking vertical views, the speed of the airplane would cause a distortion in the map. The perfected camera also includes an electric timing device and an automatic interval device. Mr. Fairchild, who is his early twenties, said yesterday that the camera represented three years of experimentation.

An examination of the mosaic bears out the claims of Mr. Fairchild. It is possible to pick out virtually any building in the city. The Battery, Madison square, Fifth avenue, office buildings, private dwellings, as well as the various centers of traffic and population are portrayed in true proportion. The photograph is more than eight feet long and twenty inches wide.

City officials who have inspected the mosaic said that aerial photographs of this character had a practical value which was certain to be recognized.

"Such a photograph would be a great help to us in directing a raid or surrounding a burglar," Police Inspector Davis said. Commissioner Joseph Johnson of the department of public works said that he had intended going by automobile to inspect two proposed operations but with the map in front of him he found he could attend to the task without leaving his office. INJUNCTION GRANTED

In Case of Grant and Yenson vs John S. Grant as Executor.

Justice Kellogg on Saturday heard the application of the defendant for the dismissal of the complaint and for a permanent injunction restraining the plaintiff from further proceedings in the case of Frank U. Grant and Mary C. Yenson against John S. Grant, individually and as executor of Julia A. Grant, deceased.

The motion was made on the grounds that there is a proceeding pending before the surrogate of Delaware county involving the same subject matter and in which there has been acquired prior jurisdiction.

An injunction was granted staying all other proceedings until the determination of the surrogate's court and until further order of this court. Edward O'Connor of Delhi appeared for the plaintiffs and L. A. Gorman of Stamford and Ralph S. Ives of Roxbury, counsel for the defendant.

LEAVE TO INSPECT DENIED

Justice Kellogg Refuses Defendant's Attorney Copy of Evidence on Which Edward Goodall Was Recently Indicted for First Degree Murder.

Hamilton J. Hewitt of Delhi, recently assigned to defend Edward Goodall, colored, accused of first degree murder at the New York reservoir works near Grand Gorge, may not examine or be furnished a copy of the minutes of the grand jury which indicted Goodall, according to a decision on Saturday by Justice Kellogg on the application of Hewitt.

Attorney Hewitt contended that there was no preliminary examination of the accused and that he has no information with reference to the names even of the witnesses who were called and testified before the grand jury. The motion was opposed by District Attorney O'Connor of Delaware county, who objected to having all his evidence disclosed to the attorney for the defendant. Provision is made where facts appearing to warrant providing a copy of the proceedings to the defendant, the court may grant such an order.

It now appears that the case will be moved for trial at Delhi during the term which commences March 13, at which Justice Kellogg will preside, and probably will commence on Monday, March 20th.

Indications are that both attorneys will be handicapped, as it is stated that many of the men employed on the job and witnesses of the encounter have moved on and that the district attorney is finding it no easy task to secure their presence for the trial.

MAKES BIKE SUPPORT HIM

J. D. Anderson of Los Angeles, with a family to support, was out of work. All he owned was a bicycle, so he decided to make the wheel support him and the family. He is now making more money than he ever did in his former work of wood turning.

RUSS DEAD REMAIN UNBURIED

Starvelings Have No Strength for Interment Task—Observer Cites Contrast.

New York—The Communists in Moscow and Petrograd are reveling in the luxuries of life while starvation is taking heavy toll in the interior districts and heaps of dead babies remain unburied according to Carl E. Floete, the American relief administrator's representative in the district of Puchatov. He has just returned to this country.

Lenin rode around Moscow in a luxurious automobile Floete declares, and the women's display of jewelry and expensive furs outshone anything seen in any other city.

Mr. Floete drew a startling contrast of conditions among the starving population in the interior of Russia. "They don't have time to bury the dead and they haven't the strength if they had the time," he declared. "They stack 'em up. Forty is the most I ever saw in one pile—and they were babies. But I don't believe they have got to cannibalism yet, except perhaps in some of the remote country districts."

USES "GAS" TO BEAT DEVIL

New England Pastor "Goes Into High Ways" With Autos to Gather Children.

North Andover, Mass.—Clergymen who charge the automobile with being the cause of small congregations were invited by Rev. E. J. Prescott, Unitarian pastor, to desist their attacks and turn the tables on the devil.

To gasoline, Mr. Prescott said he attributed much of the success of his thriving Sunday school. Seated at the wheel of a big truck, and followed by a fleet of touring cars, he obeys the biblical injunction by going out into the highways and byways every Sunday and bringing to his school children within a radius of seven miles.

North Parish meeting house, of which the clergyman is pastor, was built in 1755 and is one of the oldest churches in New England.

U. S. TO WEIGH MEN'S SWEAT

Test to Be Made by Mine Bureau to Discover Danger Mark in Air Pressure.

Pittsburgh—Weighing the sweat of a man's brow is the task set for the United States bureau of mines station in Pittsburgh, according to A. C. Fieldner, station superintendent and supervising chemist. To obtain material for the test it was said that men lifting weights in an enclosed chamber were to be subjected to various degrees of temperature, humidity and air movements. The work, it was pointed out, has an intensely practical purpose. In the Montana copper mines high temperatures are frequently encountered where it must be known at what temperature the men may work in safety. The same problem arises in the steel mills.

Preliminary Cemetery.

An interesting discovery was made at Craik, Scotland, recently. When some men of the telegraphic department were at work on the west links they unearthed a stone coffin with a human male skeleton inside. There is nothing to show the date, but it is obviously of great antiquity, and probably belongs to the same remote period as other stone coffins that have been discovered at various times near the old burgh.

JULIA HAD SAID SOMETHING

Sam Was Forced to Admit That His Better Half "Chatted About Dem Clothes."

Courtenay Dinwiddie, executive of the National Child Health council, told the following story at the meeting of the Monday evening club. It belongs to the great fund of family stories of which each home has its share.

His family had a colored woman of the name of Julia, who did the wash, according to Mr. Dinwiddie, her husband transporting the clothes to and from home. One night he started with a big bundle of freshly washed clothing. It had been raining and there were puddles along the street.

The unfortunate man slipped, the bundle hit the street, opened up, and its contents went into a mud puddle. Needless to say, he couldn't deliver the wash, and he hated to take it back home. But he was forced to "face the music."

A week later the colored man showed up at the Dinwiddie home with the clothes spick and span. The family, of course, had found out what had delayed their wash and were prepared for Sam.

That worthy, however, did not say a word about his mishap.

"Sam," asked a member of the family, "didn't Julia have anything to say about the clothes when you had to take them back?"

Sam grinned.

"Julia—she done chatted quite a while about dem clothes," he said.—Washington Star.

SCIENTISTS TEST SIGHT OF BEES

Experiments Expected to Have Important Bearing on Natural Selection.

COLOR-BLINDNESS AT ISSUE

Research is Expected to Last for Years and to Establish Just What Bee or Moth Can See or Not See.

New York.—A series of delicate experiments will soon be started by three eminent American scientists to discover whether bees and other insects are color-blind or not. The scientists who are now busy inventing devices for testing the vision of bees are Dr. F. E. Lutz, a biologist of the American Museum of Natural History; Dr. J. Arthur Harris, an entomologist of the Carnegie Institution, and Prof. E. K. Richtmyer of Cornell University, a physiologist and specialist in color vision. They form the committee on the biological relations between flowers and insects of the National Research council.

Their tests, of the sight of insects are expected to last for years and to establish just what a bee or a moth can see and what it cannot see. These years of elaborate experimentation have not been planned by the National Research Council and undertaken by three eminent scientists solely for the purpose of ascertaining a bee's optical equipment. A greater question lies behind. The controversy about the bee's sight, it is said, involves the validity of the whole theory of natural selection.

The evolution of man from the lower animals and the evolution of all plant and animal life from a primitive form of life originating on earth billions or hundreds of millions of years ago are almost universally believed by scientists, but the hypothesis that the evolution was brought about almost solely by the process of natural selection has come under attack recently from many quarters. This is where the bee's sight becomes important.

Theory on "Selected" Flower.

The theologian holds generally that the beautiful colors of the flowers were placed there by the Creator for the delight of man. The biologist has generally denied this, and argued that the colors are there because they attract the attention of bees. The visits of the bees result in carrying pollen from one flower to another, which fertilizes the seeds. Unless they receive the pollen the seeds do not grow.

The cumbersome phrase of "natural selection" in this case is intended to describe a process probably millions of years old, under which the flowers which almost attracted the bees by their colors or scent were pollinated in greatest numbers, while those less attractive received fewer visits from the bees and tended to die off. In each generation the flowers which pleased the bees most would be "selected" to live.

These "selected" parents would have offspring, some brighter than themselves, some about the same as themselves and some less bright (that is, of course, bright from the standpoint of the bee, whose standards of brightness might differ greatly from ours). The action of the bees, tending to preserve the prettiest colors, would make each generation of flowers slightly lovelier than its predecessors, thus producing finally the gorgeous natural varieties in existence today.

Are Bees Color-Blind?

This theory had been accepted for many years, but recently it has been rudely shaken. Investigations in Germany and Belgium have made it doubtful whether a bee can tell one color from another, or whether the flowers which are gorgeous to human eyes have any power, by reason of their coloring to attract the attention of the bees at all. The results have so far been so uncertain, however, that the American scientists and institutions agreed that it was necessary to make a far-reaching study of the whole subject.

Biologists have attempted to account for the coloring of many insects or animals, as well as flowers, on the principle of "natural selection." The plumage of birds and the colors of fishes aid in courtship, mating and the increase of the species. Zebras, giraffes and thousands of types of animals, birds and insects have camouflage or protective coloration which makes it difficult for their enemies to detect them at a distance. The curious coloring of the skunk is supposed to warn his enemies that he has developed a wicked art of self-defense, while at the same time his colors blend with the twilight, so that the skunk makes a natural part of the skyline to the mice and insects on which he preys. The light of the lady glowworm is her matrimonial advertisement.

While evolution explains thousands of these things, it has many hard nuts to crack. One thing hard to explain, for instance, is the beauty of the pearl, which grows inside the body of the oyster. The pearl is really the mauseoleum of a parasite which has invaded the shellfish and is elaborately incased by it in lustrous calcium carbonate, slightly different from the material of which the oyster makes its shell.

"Provocation" Is Good.
In an examination a schoolboy gave this definition: "Holy matrimony is a divine institution for the provocation of mankind."

Jud Tunkins.
Jud Tunkins says the reason he's taking a monopoly is the way a toll-rate keeper always lets the road run down when he has it all his own way.

Value of Education.
Right education fits a person to earn a living, to be a good citizen, and to enjoy life through the cultivation of the imagination.

AVIATION NOT HIS OBJECT

Swede Had His Own Reason for Rejecting Offer of That Particular Brand of Liquor.

Stephen Hunter Love of Salt Lake City, prominent in the beet sugar industry of Utah and a member of the food administration during the war, was in Washington for the sugar hearings before the finance committee of the senate. Mr. Love has a great gift for story telling, and is particularly fond of Swedish stories, his imitation of the Scandinavian dialect being well-nigh perfect.

It seems that recently a picturesque old Swede employed in one of the sugar mills thought to himself that he would not mind having a little drink or two after a particularly hard day's work. So he hid himself to a boot-legger of his acquaintance.

"You got any that squirrel whisky, Yohn?" he asked.

"No, I haven't Sven," replied the liquor merchant, "but I can give you a little old crow. How 'bout that?"

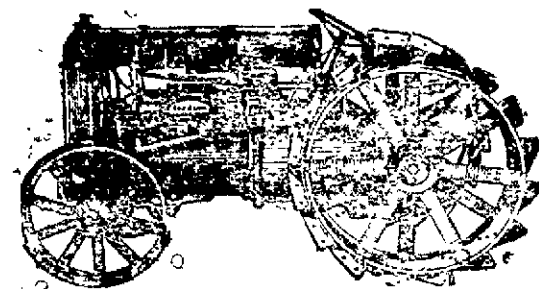

Sven thought for a moment; then he shook his head.

"Nay-da," he said. "Ay don't want to fly; Ay just want to hop a little."—Washington Post.

Better When Cut Up.

In California the farms originally were the old "Spanish land grants," usually of enormous extent. In a fashion these great holdings—valuated by the American government when California came into the Union—have remained as ranches. Today the people are learning that better taxation and production, and thus are better.

Side Effects in Hats

Hats have taken tremendously to side effects! One sees on a tour of the smart shops and smart avenues scarcely a chapeau which doesn't wear a pompadour, a huge flat bow or a tassel at the side. Vastly swaggy are these side effects. Sometimes, as in these ideale models, the feathers extend quite to the shoulder line.

Stories of Great Scouts

By Elmo Scott Watson

© Western Newspaper Union.

"LONESOME CHARLEY" REYNOLDS, CUSTER'S SCOUT

Many noted scouts served with General Custer during his Indian campaigns, but his favorite of them all was Charles Reynolds, known as "Lonesome Charley." In the early seventies, Reynolds was a hunter for the garrison at Fort Rice, N. D. He was a quiet little man who lived much to himself and preferred to hunt alone, no matter how many hostile Indians were near. Because of his disregard for human companionship, he became known by everyone as "Lonesome Charley."

Reynolds first served under Custer in the exploration of the Yellowstone country in 1873. During his expedition two inoffensive civilians with Custer's command were murdered by the Indians. The next year, while Reynolds was attending a sun dance of the Sioux near Fort A. Lincoln, N. D., he heard a young chief named Rain-in-the-Face boast of the murder of the two men. Charley reported this to Custer and Rain-in-the-Face was arrested and imprisoned. Later he escaped and sent back his now-famous vow of vengeance of the whole Custer family.

"Lonesome Charley" was with Custer during the exploration of the Black Hills in 1874. When gold was discovered, at Custer's request he rode 150 miles, through a country swarming with hostile Indians to Fort Laramie, Wyo., in 48 hours and gave to the world the first news of the discovery, causing a stampede of miners into that region.

When Custer started on his last campaign against the Sioux in 1876, Reynolds was offered the position of chief guide.

When the Seventh cavalry left the steamer Far West, Reynolds was ill. Capt. Grant Marsh of the Far West tried to persuade him not to go with the expedition since he was in no condition to do any fighting. Reynolds refused.

"I've been waiting and getting ready for this expedition for two years, captain, and I'd rather be dead than miss it," he said earnestly. So he rode away to his death.

When Custer divided his command to attack the Sioux on the Little Big Horn, the scout was sent with Major Reno. The Indians swept down upon Reno and forced him back to the wooded bluffs across the river. "Lonesome Charley" was killed in this retreat. His body was found surrounded by 60 empty cartridge shells. He had died fighting.

Ex-President in Congress.

Only one president returned to public life after quitting his office. John Quincy Adams, retiring from the presidency in 1829, returned to Washington in 1831 as a member of the house of representatives at the age of sixty-four. Friends feared this step would dim the luster of his great fame, but his service in congress only added to his renown.

CEREMONY BY CABLE TIES COUPLE IN LEGAL BONDS

Girl in Paris Is Wedded to Man in Nebraska as Judge Asks Questions by Cable.

Judge Wilber F. Bryant of Hartington, Neb., claims to hold the long distance marrying record. He officiated the other day at a wedding in which the principals were separated by 4,000 miles of land and water.

The principals were Lester J. Mabius, a rural mail carrier of Cedar county, Neb., and Miss Maria Hahn, a resident of Paris. The ceremony was the culmination of a romance begun in France when Mabius was a member of the expeditionary force. The two were engaged to be married when Mabius returned, but the immigration laws stepped in to bar her out of the country unless she came as the wife of a citizen of the United States.

The marriage ceremony was simplicity itself. The bride had been informed in advance by letter that the cable would be used. Judge Bryant took the bridegroom to the telephone station. He asked him if he would take Miss Hahn to be his lawfully wedded wife. Mabius said he would. Then the judge called Miss Hahn asking if she would take Mabius to be her lawfully wedded husband. She replied that she would, and when this was received the court pronounced them man and wife. A marriage certificate was at once mailed the bride at her Paris home.

The judge says there is no doubt of the perfect legality of the marriage, and that when Mrs. Mabius presents this certificate to the immigration officials the minimum cash in hand clause and other vexatious tangles of the law will be waived because she is the wife of an American citizen.

The ceremony took place at 7 o'clock Hartington time, and the judge waived aside the fact that it was one o'clock in Paris when she got the cable and made answer, thus the pair being married on different days. Two of the bridegroom's friends acted as witnesses.

KEMP'S BALSAM
FOR COUGHS

To win a race a Jockey doesn't put extra weight on the horse that helps him succeed

No man or woman who wants to succeed in the race of life can afford the handicap of headaches, insomnia, indigestion and debility. Nor can they afford to take anything that may keep up a continual irritation of the nervous system.

Yet this is what many people do who drink excessive amounts of tea or coffee. For tea and coffee contain caffeine, a substance that is sometimes very injurious. Many doctors say that caffeine raises the blood pressure, irritates the kidneys, and over-stimulates the entire nervous system. Also that it is especially bad for growing children, or for any one who has any tendency to nervousness or insomnia.

If you want to avoid a possible cause of headache, insomnia, or nervousness, it might be well to stop taking tea and coffee for awhile, and drink rich, satisfying Postum, instead.

Postum is a delicately-roasted, pure cereal beverage—delicious and wholesome.

Order Postum from your grocer today. Drink this fragrant, healthful beverage for awhile, and see if you will not feel brighter, more active, and more resistant to fatigue—as so many thousands of others have felt.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

Health Habits for Children.

Health instruction and its result in the formation of habits, is the subject of a daily record of health habits for every child in the schools of Washington, D. C., according to the United States bureau of education. Blanks are marked after the morning daily inspection by the teacher. Each school day a mark is given for the pupil's observance of such habits as brushing the teeth, carrying a handkerchief, keeping a good posture, taking thirty minutes physical exercise. Thirteen health habits are noted. At the end of a month a rating is given to correspond with the daily record, and the sheet is sent home folded around the report card, to be signed by the parent and returned. It is expected thus to secure the co-operation of the home in inculcating health habits. Children showing extreme neglect are referred to the school nurse.

MANY ADULTS TOY WRECKERS

Fathers, Mothers, and Uncles, All Too Fond of Trifling With the Children's Playthings.

Fathers and uncles have always made it a practice to play with little Willie's mechanical toys at Christmas time until they were broken, frequently permitting Willie to look on merely, while a group of adults manipulated the toys all Christmas day.

But what happened to little Willie was as nothing to the wrongs practiced by mothers who have purchased walking dolls for their little girls.

A little girl whose family had been making entirely unsuccessful efforts to conceal the Anti-Yuletide presence in the home of a walking doll came out with the whole history of the case one evening.

"Are you going to show her the walking doll?" she asked wistfully, indicating a dinner guest as the "her" in question.

Father and mother looked at each other aghast. Theoretically the little girl was not supposed to know there was a walking doll in the house until Santa Claus introduced them. Tactfully they ignored the question.

"Bedtime, dear," suggested mother sweetly.

But the little girl had reached the end of her endurance. Desperately she turned to the guest:

"They play with it every night after I go to bed," she wailed.

Wife Brings Offenders Into Husband's Court

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Heeg of Lagrange, N. Y., have a monopoly on the administration of justice in their town. Mr. Heeg is justice of the peace and his wife has just qualified as constable. Mr. Heeg swears out the warrants and hands them to his wife, who, in turn, serves them and brings offenders before her husband's court or turns them over to him for delivery to the county jail.

RATS ATE REVENUE STAMPS

Important Internal Question Is Raised by Rodents in Iowa Distillery Warehouse.

Dubuque, Ia.—Rats have raised an important internal revenue question. Some $200 worth of stamps were pasted upon a large number of whisky barrels in Rhonberg's distillery warehouse.

The rats, having a taste for the paste, ate them all off slick and clean. The owner would not pay for any more stamps, the rats would not confess judgment and the whisky could not be sold without its patriotic insignia.

But that was back in 1869. When Lars Bladine, collector of internal revenue for the state of Iowa, raised the question to solve the general trend of thought on the part of those interrogated, it was not so much the question as to where the whisky could be located. He found the case in the internal revenue record.

SAY INDIANS STARVE

Turned Cannibals, According to Reports From Canada.

Mounted Police Start on Four-Month Trail in Far North to Investigate—Miss Yearly Migration of Caribou.

Winnipeg.—A member of the Canadian mounted police and a guide left Edmonton, Alberta, to investigate reports that Indian tribes north of Lake Athabasca, in northern Canada, had resorted to cannibalism, their food having failed them.

These Indians have heretofore been living largely on caribou, but last summer they missed the yearly migration of caribou from the shores of the Arctic and their hunt was a failure. Reports indicate that they are starving.

The trip is a long and dangerous one, across barren lands and through a wilderness for a distance of 400 miles. No food can be obtained there and little wood for camp fires is obtainable, there being in the region only isolated sticks of stunted timber. The ground is almost entirely rock ridges, interspersed with swamp land and bogs. Another party of Canadian mounted policemen also is leaving Fort Fitzgerald.

Indians from all sections of northern Canada converge at a central meeting point in the heart of the howling wilderness of this north country, where they remain for months. It is at this central point that the police hope to find them, and if cannibals are found among them, to bring these human flesh eaters to civilization.

Long trains of Indians and dogs will accompany the police, carrying supplies for four months.

He Was the "Goat."

One day last spring I attended a circus, and while looking for my seat prior to the start of the show, I chanced to walk through the arena. A young "blonde" lady came to me and asked me where the animals were on exhibition. As I pointed the correct directions she fell in a faint, right into my arms. I was badly confused and started to carry her to one of the platforms in the center of the immense coliseum. Then I heard roars of loud laughter. I dropped her and started to fan her with my hat, when, with all eyes on me, I realized that the young "lady" was a clown who had been amusing the audience before the start of the regular show and I was the "goat."—Exchange.

LONDON FOG BACK ON JOB

Citizen of Big City Secretly Proud of What Visitors Universally Denominate a Nuisance.

The "London particular," the blinding, choking, solid, yellow fog, the Londoner's pride and the visitor's despair, has come back into its own. London's fog is not the soft, moist, gray mist that hangs over an American city in wet weather. It may be absolutely dry or as wet as rain itself. It may envelop all of London, a blanket that recedes unwillingly, step by step, as a pedestrian advances.

It may envelop one or a dozen sections, when it may be seen in the distance, and is stepped into as definitely as one steps into a doorway.

Whatever the real "London particular" character, it is a real fog; and when it comes, trains stop or slow to a nervous crawl and street traffic is all but halted.

The London fog comes with the autumn and early winter, when fires are lighted in 2,000,000 fireplaces and the smoke is unable to penetrate the clouds. For several years there had not been much fog; last year there was almost none. This year it is back, and the Londoner, cursing it when it makes him an hour late for work, secretly hugs it to his breast—he couldn't help it if he wanted to—and gloats over it as part of his heritage. No one knows where it passed its vacation.

Larva Resembles Spittle.

A frothy substance found on plants, variously known as "frog spit," "cuckoo spit" and "toad spit," is exuded by the larva of the spittle insect, which lives under the mass of "spit." The latter consists of juice sucked from the plants.

NEEDLE IN HER LEG 60 YEARS

Woman Experiences No Pain Until Last Two Years—Located by X-Ray.

Dallas, Tex.—Mrs. L. O. Short, sixty-one, has been wearing a needle in her leg 60 years. Recently it began to give her trouble and she had it removed. Mrs. Short said when she was a little child she was told by her mother that a needle was stuck in her leg in an accident. Until two years ago in an accident. The needle was in perfect condition. Then it began to pain her.

It was located with the aid of an X-ray and removed with but a slight operation. It had worked through the bone. The needle was in perfect condition.

Quail Adopt Home.
Eat With Chickens

Berwick, Pa.—Oliver Tobey of Briar Creek has a flock of quail that have become so tame they are feeding with his chickens, and he is hoping to be able to keep them over the winter. The quail first came to the chicken pen several weeks ago. Hunting is forbidden in Briar Creek borough, and Tobey doesn't have any intention of killing the birds. He has received permission from the game warden to try to keep them over winter.

TO MOVE MOUNTAIN IN RIO

Engineers and Banker Undertake $12,000,000 Job in the Capital of Brazil.

New York.—Eleven engineers who are going to move a mountain out of the city of Rio de Janeiro and dump it into the sea sailed for Brazil. With the party was Robert O. Hayward of the banking firm of Dillon, Read & Co. of this city, who floated the $12,000,000 loan with which the mountain-moving project is to be financed.

According to Mr. Hayward, the city of Rio de Janeiro has been anxious to get rid of the mountain for ten years. It is called Morro de Castello, and occupies a large acreage in the best part of the city's business district. The American engineers will remove 50 per cent of the mountain by hydraulic digging and the remainder by truck excavation.

LITHUANIA LIKE U. S. TO YANKS

Many of the Officials and Business Men are Former Residents of America.

Kovno, Lithuania.—The "main street" of Kovno, which has always resembled, to a certain extent, that of a wild-west town, has become more Americanized than ever. Dozens of the men now playing prominent roles in the Lithuanian government and in business here are Lithuanians who have been in America and returned to their birthland since the country won its independence. Some of the business men still retain their American citizenship. More strictly American type clothes are noted in Lithuania than any other country of Europe.

Lithuania, exclusive of the disputed Vilna territory, has about 2,500,000 inhabitants. At least 100,000 of these have been at one time or another in America.

The smallest Lithuanian village generally boasts at least one English-speaking citizen. Their English is of the American variety.

Dr. Zannius of the Lithuanian diplomatic corps said that nearly $30,000 daily is coming to Lithuania from her sons and daughters in the United States.

A great role in the economic life of Lithuania is planned by the American-Lithuanians," he said. "Trade enterprises, factories, banks, etc., are being established with their money. A group of them has just purchased one of the largest textile factories in Kovno."

In the ordinary calls of a few days at Kovno, the correspondent found the manager and president of the largest trading concern were both American citizens and the underminister of foreign affairs had been a Chicago lawyer.

Original "Limerick."
The word is said to have been adopted as a name for a certain kind of nonsense rhyme because an old song current in Ireland, which had the same verse construction, contained the place name "Limerick."

FEE ONCE SIX
BEAVER SKINS

New York Charged That for Freedom of City.

CUSTOM ENTIRELY REVERSED

In Medieval Days in England Freedom of City Conferred License to Carry on Business and to Vote—Early Dutch Settlers of New York Set Up Similar Status and Persons Without Burgher Right Were Prohibited From Doing Business.

"To one freedom of the city—six beaver skins."

Entries like this would have dotted the debit side of the expense accounts of Foch, Diaz, Beatty, Jacques and others of the brilliant procession of old world figures drawn to America in the wake of the World war had they come about three centuries earlier.

And instead of riding at the head of triumphal processions to the city halls of various municipalities, there to receive the freedom of the city at the hands of respectful mayors, to the accompaniment of bands and cheering throngs, they would have had to file petitions in court for their freedom and take oaths not to offend against the law of the land.

Conferring of the freedom of a city on a visitor has come to mean almost precisely the opposite of what it was in the young days of America and earlier—in the medieval days in England.

Originally Economic Measure.
"The origin of the custom of granting the freedom of the city to aliens is virtually lost in antiquity," said Professor Harold McBrin, instructor in municipal government at Columbia University, commenting on the round of brilliant receptions that have kept the mayors of New York and other cities almost constantly in tall hats and frock coats in recent months.

"It appears, however, to have grown directly out of the medieval organization of industry on a monopolistic basis, and was originally an economic measure pure and simple."

"In the old English borough it amounted to a license to carry on business and, later, to vote. Without the status of a freeman, conferred by the grant, a man could not rise above the class of employee."

"The early Dutch settlers of New Amsterdam—now New York—set up a similar status, called the burgher right, in 1614, as a protection against Scotch merchants and petty traders who spoil trade and business by underselling. Persons not holding the burgher right were prohibited from conducting business either with Christian or heathen." The fee was six beaver skins.

"Freedom of the city was provided for in the Dongan charter of 1683—the first English charter of New York City—and its dispensation was entrusted to ye mayor or any three or more of ye aldermen." The fee by this time was reckoned in British pounds instead of beaver skins—3 pounds 12 shillings for the shopkeeper class and 1 pound 4 shillings for handicraftsmen.

"Persons receiving the grant were required to take the oath, 'Obeyant and obedient shall ye beo to the mayor and ministers of this city,' and swore to take turns at the watch, pay their taxes and warn the mayor of any gatherings, conventicles or conspiracies made against the King's peace. Honorary Freedom Begun."

"It was in the latter part of the eighteenth century that the practice of bestowing gratuitous, honorary freedoms of the city appeared."

"Early New York records recite the bestowal of the freedom of the city of New York on Capt. Sir Peter Warren for his exploits against the French and to Generals Shirley, Monckton and Gage."

"Later there is an entry showing the honor was bestowed on three sailors of a vessel lying in New York harbor, in recognition of their services in helping extinguish a disastrous fire."

The formality had nearly died out, when the termination of the war brought a revival, designed to honor noted visitors. Professor McBain said he knew of no records showing the origin of the practice of delivering the "keys of the city" to persons receiving the honor.

Refuses Leadership of His Tribe Which May Become Extinct.

Avery Winnemucca from the small town of Nixon, Nev., eldest son of Chief Winnemucca of the Plute Indians of Nevada, is enrolled as a special student at the University of South Dakota, located at Vermillion, S. Young Winnemucca's father is the holder of the chieftainship in a line that goes back several hundred years. Although Avery is the eldest son and direct heir to the title he does not intend to accept it. By tribal law the title will thereby become extinct.

HOUSE OF KUPPENHEIMER OF ONEONTA

ORGANIZED LABOR WILL STORM STATE CAPITOL THIS WEEK

Compers to Urge Favorable Action on Industrial Relations Bill at Hearing Wednesday; Full Crew Law Debate Thursday

Albany, Feb. 26 — The legislature this week will witness some of the most controversial measures of the session, including the Duggan-Beets industrial relations bill and the Lawton-Richford bills, designed to enforce federal and state statutes, including prohibition enforcement laws.

The judiciary committee will report to the assembly tomorrow night that the subcommittee, which investigated the contest between August Claessens, Socialist, and Murray Felsenstein, Democrat for the 17th New York assembly district seat, has found that Claessens, and not Felsenstein, who now has the seat, is the duly elected representative.

The findings of the subcommittee have been reported by the judiciary committee. Whether Claessens is seated depends, in part, upon the disposition by the assembly of the committee's report. Claessens was expelled from the assembly on two occasions in 1920 on charges of disloyalty.

A complete report of the activities of the Lockwood housing committee, accompanied by numerous recommendations and legislation designed to correct the conditions which the committee members believe to be responsible for the housing shortage, also is scheduled to be submitted to the legislature this week.

A decision on proposals to extend the present emergency rent laws, now applying only to New York city, to other cities of the state is expected to be reached by the committee at an executive session tomorrow night.

The resolution extending the life of the committee for another year is slated for adoption in both houses before Wednesday.

Clear Up Committee Work.

Adoption of other resolutions continuing the Davenport taxation, the Walton committee on revision of the corporation laws and the special education committees may also take place this week.

With the life of the assembly committee scheduled to expire on March 7, in accordance with the resolution fixing final adjournment of the legislature for March 17, committee work, it is believed, will be cleared up by the end of this week. This would include decisions on all legislation now before the various committees.

The chief work of the legislature this week undoubtedly will be confined to the passage of the annual appropriation bill carrying $102,857,611 for the cost of state government, the enactment of a vast amount of local legislation remaining on the calendar and listening to arguments by foes and friends of controversial legislation.

Organized labor, led by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, will storm the capitol on Wednesday to oppose favorable action on the industrial relations bill. This measure seeks to establish an industrial relations part to the supreme courts of the state for the purpose of adjudicating industrial disputes in order to prevent strikes and lockouts. The hearing on this measure will be held before the labor and industries committees of both houses.

A protest meeting of labor representatives is scheduled to be held here previous to the hearing, and those who attend it will be marshalled in a parade to the capitol.

Hearing on Full Crew Bill

Most of the labor leaders who will come to Albany for the hearing on the industrial relations bill will remain over until Thursday to attend another hearing on the Wiswall-Mastick bill, designed to repeal the broad full crew law. This, too, will be a joint hearing before the senate public service and the assembly railroads committees, and labor is prepared to present arguments against the repeal.

Prohibition (Ladd day) is the war-slogan of the Lawton-Richford measures are describing the hearings on Tuesday before six of the senate and assembly committees. The Anti-Social League and other reform organizations have been conducting a campaign to bring a vast throng of day-advocates to the hearing to urge favorable consideration of the bills. While no announcement of the plans of the opponents of the measures has been made, it is believed some sort of a demonstration will be made. For this reason, the hearing will take place in the spacious assembly chamber.

Constitutional Amendments

Constitutional amendments proposing a wider scope of home rule for municipalities and for the reconstruction of the state government are to be the subjects of a hearing before the assembly judiciary committee on Tuesday.

District attorneys of Greater New York are expected to attend a hearing on Wednesday before the assembly judiciary committee on the Duggan-Beets bill designed to make it mandatory for corporations planning to sell lands in the state to file with the secretary of state a statement of their assets and liabilities. The bill also is intended to provide for the licensing of stock brokers and dealers.

A hearing on the Patcher bill designed to provide for the licensing of pool rooms has been set for Tuesday by the senate cities committee. While the assembly ways and means committee has fixed a hearing for Tuesday on the Blackburg bill which incorporates the Democratic party's water power development program.

Introduction of legislation intended to carry out Governor Miller's recommendations in regard to child welfare and to affect by statute the constitutional amendments adopted at the last election in regard to children's courts, will be introduced this week. Senator Charles W. Walton, Republican, of Ulster, has announced.

SHOWS ONE'S LOVE CAPACITY

"Telephonograph" May Be Used in the Future to Prevent Possibility of Unhappy Marriages.

One of the innumerable uses to which the "telephonograph," an invention announced by the Society of Electrical Development, may be placed is that of preventing unhappy marriages. The inventor himself, name not disclosed, believes that if it can be adjusted over the heart of the girl, her doubt-torn swain will be able to tell whether she is telling the truth or not. He had not invented a way of making the girl put this lie detector on.

The "telephonograph" records the breathing and heart beats. It magnifies irregularities caused by emotions and is regarded by criminologists as a sure method of catching lying witnesses. The lover suggestion is put forward by the inventor merely as an example of what science could do if permitted.

"When John grows doubtful of the reality of Joan's love for him," he says in his dry, academic way, "he can satisfy himself by having her heart flutters measured."

If the girl puts up a struggle at a suggestion that she wear this harness during an evening of courtship John may be sure that he is going to get several hours of lies. In that case there is nothing to do but doubt everything she says. Thus will unhappy marriages be prevented.

Wedding Days in Holland.

In orderly Holland, where everything happens by rule, the different classes of society choose different days of the week on which to be married. For some unknown reason Monday is society's day and marriage fees for that day amount to a sum approximate to $24. On Saturdays the charge is $2, or nothing at all if the couple do not wish a separate ceremony, and are willing to join a group of 30 couples. At these group marriages, the clerk reads the service once, all the couples making the responses in chorus.

How Many Colors for a Section?

Not long ago a train started out of Grand Central in two sections. After running a few miles the first section lost time, and the second, running ahead, was ordered to put up green signals and run as first section. As this train approached the next tower the dispatcher asked the signalman if the engine had put up signals. The signalman replied, by telephone, "Yes, he just put up the green and blew."—New York Central Magazine.

Declares Husband Did Not Love His Country, but Was Always Full of Praise for the Germans—Girl Sees Crime.

Paris.—"He did not love his country, but, on the contrary, was always full of praise for the Germans," was the only excuse Estelle Jobin could find when, together with her lover, Charles Burger, she was brought before examining magistrates on the charge of murdering her husband and helping to cut up the body, throwing parts of it into the river and burying the remainder in a park outside of Paris.

The husband, Ernest Jobin, was employed at the Grand hotel here as first floor waiter and had been for some ten years. Two years ago a vacancy having occurred on the same floor, Jobin introduced one of his friends, Charles Burger, to the management, and he was given a job. Burger having no home, Jobin offered to share his with Burger and his little girl, Madeleine, six.

Quarreled About War.

Burger was a widower, and intimate relations soon developed between him and Jobin's wife. Conversations in the household often drifted to the war. Burger had served as a private and was wounded. The two men would often come very near to an exchange of blows. Burger, furthermore, was envious of Jobin's position at the Grand hotel, where he was well liked by the management and patrons.

He had succeeded in saving up some 60,000 francs.

From then on Burger thought only of various ways of getting the money. Matters went so far that Burger, exasperated, picked up a knife from the table and stabbed Jobin to death. This happened in the presence of the latter's wife. Losing no time as to how they should get rid of the body, Burger suggested to Mrs. Jobin that they cut it up. Clearing the dining room table, they put Jobin's body on it and, while Burger went out after a saw, Mme. Jobin prepared sackings.

Girl Watches Hacking.

As soon as Burger returned they set to their ghastly task, witnessed only by little Madeleine, too horrified to say anything. That same night, at midnight, the three left their flat, each carrying a bundle, one containing the headless body of the victim, the others an arm each, and made for the nearest bridge, where the remains were thrown into the river. The next day they left for the Clamart Wood, bearing with them, in two separate sackings the head and legs of their victim.

A few weeks later the trunk was found some 12 miles out of Paris in the river, and the next day the arms appeared. It was not until 18 months after that the murderers were found and, with them, the head and legs, for they led the police authorities to the spot where the latter had been buried.

Burger, when asked about the crime, threw most of the blame on the woman.

Practice Self-Forgetfulness. Self-forgetfulness stores up happiness as the bees store up honey. The unselfish make joy for themselves as well as for everybody around them.

Both Equal. He—"And won't you give me a kiss?" She—"Certainly not. I never kissed a man in my life." He (emphatically)—"Neither did I."

REMINDER OF MIDDLE AGES

English Clergyman Likely Will Have to Stand Trial on the Charge of Heresy.

Charges of heresy—with the possibility that England will have an ecclesiastical trial such as it has not known since the Middle ages—have been filed against the Rev. H. D. A. Major, principal of Ripon hall, a theological institute in Oxford by the Rev. C. E. Douglas. Further action rests with the bishop of Oxford, with whom the charges have been placed.

The action grew out of an article by the Rev. Mr. Major, in which he said that the resurrection of Christ was a spiritual but not a physical happening. The Rev. Mr. Douglas charges him with "publishing doctrine contrary to the teachings of creeds and of holy scripture," and also "of importing into the Christian religion the teachings of the eastern mystic, Buddha."

The Rev. Mr. Major holds no benefice, so the case can not be tried through the bishops' court. The procedure which must be followed is the old "procedure by inquisition." Under this the bishop having received the information appoints "an inquisition of priests" to hear testimony.

The Rev. Mr. Major, since the filing of the charges, has announced he will defend his position.

WALKS 60 MILES TO GET FOOD

Russian Braves Snow and Cold for Needed Gift From New York Woman.

Moscow.—Serge Victorovitch Torsky walked 60 miles through the snow from his home in the country of Riazan to this city recently, to receive a $20 remittance purchased for him by Mrs. Mary Mardfin of 2020 Washington avenue, The Bronx, New York.

When Torsky arrived at the American relief administration warehouse here he was almost exhausted from cold and hunger. He could hardly believe his eyes when, after establishing his identity, he received 234 pounds of nourishing food, consisting of 98 pounds of flour, 50 pounds of rice, 40 pounds of canned milk 20 pounds of cooking fats, 20 pounds of sugar and 6 pounds of tea. "I have a wife and four children at home," he said, "and this will save them from starvation. Mrs. Mardfin can never be adequately repaid for this kind deed."

Innuence of Toys.

The toy ugly in form, design or color should not be given to children for it may offend an inherited artistic sense, and misdirect a budding instinct for those things which are beautiful. One cannot expect a child to develop good taste if he is surrounded by articles and playthings which violate all the canons of symmetry and color.

REDUCTION IN MILK PRICES

Dairymen's League Announces Lower Prices for March Due to Surplus Throughout State Hoping to Stimulate Market.

Reductions in the price of milk to be paid to producers next month, which were made by the directors of the Dairymen's League Friday afternoon are expected to result in lower prices for the consumer.

One and two cents a quart were clipped off the price to be paid the producers in March, the greatest reduction ordered in several years. The March price for bottled milk was fixed at $2.12 and for canned milk at $1.75 per 100 pounds.

Class 1 schedules, which had formerly applied to liquid milk, were re-arranged for bottled and canned milk. The price for February has been $2 per 100 pounds. March prices for class 2 milk, which is that used in ice cream and sold for cream, were fixed at $1.50 per 100 pounds.

The reduction of 47 cents per 100 pounds for March milk is approximately one cent a quart. The average of the bottled and canned milk prices shows a reduction of approximately 2 cents and a half a quart.

From what can be ascertained, the directors decided on the lowered price on account of the tremendous surplus throughout the state. Milk production begins to increase at this time of the year, and the increase will continue for several months.

The directors, it is said, believe that the lowered price will stimulate the market, and expect retailers will pass the decrease to consumers.

"BIG ED" WALSH AS UMPIRE

Former Oneonta Manager to Represent American League in Pro-Season Battles Between Griffiths Crew and Boston Braves.

Washington, Feb. 26.—Ed Walsh, former star hurler of the Chicago White Sox and generally regarded as the greatest exponent of the now all-but-passed spit ball, has been named as an umpire in the American league, to break in with the Griffiths. He has been assigned to represent the Johnson circuit in the inter-league exhibition battles between the Nationals and Boston Braves, and will depend largely upon the experience and training he acquires in the three weeks of jousting at Tampa, St. Petersburg and on the joint tour northward to fit him for the regular campaign.

Just what Walsh's value as an official will prove to be is conjectural, but those familiar with his personality are convinced he will make good. So far as knowledge of the game is concerned, few are better qualified for the thankless task he is undertaking. Walsh knows all the ins and outs of base ball, and his value as an umpire should be enhanced by the fact that having been a batter in the ranks himself, he can appreciate the viewpoint of the player.

"Moore" Was Real Wonder.

Aside from his wonderful effectiveness in the business in developing rival batsmen, Walsh was one of the greatest "iron men" the diamond has produced. For years he has been the champion of the south side, and in addition to hurling three or four games a week as a regular thing, he was the champion relief pitcher of all time. At the slightest sign of wavering on the part of the other Sox pitchers, Walsh would grab his glove and truck for the ball pen, and it is scarcely worked the day before or was being depended upon for duty on the morrow, he was on the job at all stages.

In the matter of innings pitched Walsh topped the circuit for several seasons, and the wonder of it is that he maintained his effectiveness as long as he did, especially considering the terrible strain on the arm his pet method of delivery entails.

Walsh is assured of a cordial welcome on his debut in the ranks of umpires. Players and fans alike will be pulling for Big Ed to make good.

Divorce Case Continued.

Evidence was taken before Justice Kellogg on Saturday at chambers here in the divorce action instituted by Arthur H. Camfield against Ruth I. Camfield, both residents of Oneonta. Case was held open for further proof. N. E. Willis of Cooperstown appeared for the plaintiff and Lee D. Van Wert for the defendant. The latter did not oppose the request for a divorce which appears relative to the custody of the three children which the wife seeks.

COLLEGE EDUCATION NEEDED BY LAWYERS

National Conference of Bar Associations Adopt Elinor Root's Recommendation

Washington, Feb. 24.—The national conference of bar associations, at its closing sessions today, adopted practically unanimously the recommendation of the American Bar association that future members of the bar be required at least to have two years' college education in addition to their regular law school work. The action of the conference was on a resolution which it was explained would place the delegates under the moral obligation of striving to have this educational standard set up in their states and universities.

The vote was taken in the midst of an oration to Elinor Root, who had just concluded a stirring appeal to the representatives of the more than 150 associations present not to permit the illustrations of impedes the success of the bar to block the purification of the American bar in the future.

Mr. Root took the floor after delegates from several states had voiced their disapproval of unsatisfactory methods to drive poor, but deserving applicants from the legal ranks and after former Senator Thomas of Colorado had concluded a denunciatory address of what he termed an "uncalled-for movement."

Mr. Root deplored what he termed "crooks and racketeers who practice fraud under the protection of a shingle," and to call themselves lawyers by reason of "deplorable conditions which should be corrected without delay."

While the demonstration was at its height when he had concluded, Julius Henry Cohen of New York moved the adoption of the resolution and the motion was carried on a rising vote.

The party, in which are Mr. and Mrs. Alva Seybolt and Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Eggleston and daughter Edith of Oneonta, were scheduled to be in Gibraltar yesterday and today, with optional trip to Tangier, on the African side of the straits. Wednesday they will be in Algiers.

CHEAP SEEDS TOO CHEAP

Unwise to Try to Save a Few Cents on Attractive Bargains—Hints on Selecting a Site.

Ithaca, Feb. 26.—Cheap garden seeds are likely to prove cheap at any price, says a statement issued at the state college of agriculture. The cost of good seeds is relatively small and the success of the garden may be jeopardized by unwisely trying to save a few cents.

Although most stores get fresh stocks of seeds each year, some do not. It is well therefore, for the gardener to make sure he is getting not only seeds from a reliable grower but that these are fresh as well. Garden catalogues make excellent reading this time of year and will help one in making his selections, even if he buys most or all his seeds of his local dealers.

As to Garden Sites.

If a person really wants to garden, he should not worry too much about sites for it will be found that some success may be won on any type of soil where weeds grow. There must, however, be sunshine at least five or six hours a day, and more if possible. Leafy crops such as lettuce, parsley and chard endure more shade than others.

If the soil is poor, the gardener will do all he can to fertilize and improve it.

Beans and tomatoes will give some returns where other crops will not, and they are more nearly "fool proof" than others.

The ideal garden site has fertile soil, rather light and easily worked. It is well drained and has some wind protection on the north. It is near the house for convenience in working, and harvesting as well as protection against stray animals and light-fingered humans.

Proleska Again in Trouble.

When Mike Proleska faces Judge Huntington in city court this morning to answer to a charge of vagrancy he will have six months in the Albany penitentiary staring him in the face. He was arrested Saturday evening by a D. & H. officer. Last January Proleska was arrested on the same charge and was given a suspended sentence of six months, the sentence to be executed if he did not get out of the United States at once. He promised to go to Canada. Just a few days before his arrest in January he had been released from the pen after serving 180 days for vagrancy. It is thought that his mind may be affected and it is possible that a commission may be appointed to inquire into his sanity.
